NODE NA LE THAI FARMER VILLAGE

Songkhla

Songkhla

Situated on the Sathing Phra Peninsular in Thailand's Songkhla province, life in the small community of Tha Hin centers around the concept of "Not – Na – Le" – where three sources of natural produce (palm sugar trees, rice farms and nearby ocean) all support each household's livelihood. By heading into the village, you'll discover exactly how the sugar palm trees are used to make a range of products such as baskets, soaps, sugar, traditional desserts and other local dishes. Community leaders can also guide you through their sustainable farming processes, including rice transplanting and harvesting.

ACTIVITIES

- Learn how to make products from toddy palm.
- Try your hand at cutting toddy palms, make soap and desserts.
- Learn about rice farming and biogas.
- Set and pull up fishing nets in Songkhla Lake.
